Who we are

Who is providing this notice?

This privacy policy is being provided by Discover and applies to the products and services obtained at our retail bank office in Greenwood, Delaware and deposit accounts opened by mail, by phone, or on our websites and the products and services offered in connection with those accounts.

What we do

How does Discover protect my personal information?

To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings.

How does Discover collect my personal information?

We collect your personal information, for example, when you:

- Open an account or make deposits or withdrawals from your account
- Give us your contact information or make a wire transfer
- Provide account information

We also collect your personal information from others, such as credit bureaus and other consumer reporting agencies, affiliates, or other companies.

Why can't I limit all sharing?

Federal law gives you the right to limit only:

- Sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes-information about your creditworthiness
- Affiliates from using your information to market to you
- Sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you

State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing. See below for more on your rights under state law.

What happens when I limit sharing for an account I hold jointly with someone else?

Your choices will apply to everyone on your account.
